
THE JOURNAL OF NINETEENTH-CENTURY
AMERICANISTS

Volume 2/Spring 2014

CONTENTS

	Pleasure Reading Description	1
PLEASURE READING	Seeing the Rebel: Or, How to Do Things with Dictionaries in Nineteenth-Century America Tim Cassedy	2
	Most Pleasurable Reading We're Not Doing: Louisa May Alcott's Little Women Ivy Schweitzer	13
	"Bartleby," Empson, and Pastoral Pleasures Jonathan Elmer	24
	Lost Books and a History of Reading Them Stephanie Foote	33
	Life during Wartime Michael A. Elliott	41
ESSAYS	"Her Little Maid Mandy": The Abolitionist Slave Owner and the Rhetoric of Affection in the Life and Early Fiction of E.D.E.N. Southworth Paul Christian Jones	53

	Simultaneity-Across-Borders: Richard Henry Dana Jr., Alexander Von Humboldt, Edgar Allan Poe Edward Sugden	83
	Knowing as Neighboring: Approaching Thoreau's Kalendar Kristen Case	107
FORUM	INDIGENEITY'S DIFFERENCE: METHODOLOGY AND THE STRUCTURES OF SOVEREIGNTY
	Introduction Jodi A. Byrd	131
	Sovereignty's Challenge to Native American (and United States) History Frederick E. Hoxie	137
	Countersovereignty Manu Vimalassery	142
	Colonialism, Constituent Power, and Popular Sovereignty Alyosha Goldstein	148
FORUM	EVIDENCE AND THE ARCHIVE
	Introduction: The Aesthetics of Archival Evidence Carrie Hyde and Joseph Rezek	155
	Falsifiability, Confirmation Bias, and Textual Promiscuity Maurice S. Lee	162
	Against Accumulation Brian Connolly	172

Accounting for Textual Remains	179
Rodrigo Lazo
Where the Evidence Is: or, Willie Sutton Visits the Library	186
Paul Erickson
AUTHOR BIOS	195