
THE JOURNAL OF NINETEENTH-CENTURY
AMERICANISTS

Volume 4/Spring 2016

CONTENTS

	Pleasure Reading Description	1
PLEASURE READING	The Pleasures of Irreverent Reading Rachael Nichols	2
	Why I Heart David Walker Tara Bynum	11
ESSAYS	Contract, Adoption, and Sibling Incest: The Problem of Democratic Community in James Fenimore Cooper's Wyandotté Gretchen Murphy	19
	Sounding Conscience: Walden's Global Bottoms Avram Alpert	41
	Paul Laurence Dunbar's The Sport of the Gods and the Modern Discourse of Black Criminality Thomas Alan Dichter	65
	"A Human Longing for Redress": Contrabands and the Language of Debt in Louisa May Alcott's Civil War Literature Rebecca Bechtold	99

FORUM THE END OF THE END OF THE CANON?

Introduction: A Survey of Survey Courses Maurice S. Lee	125
“But Is It Literary?” Generalist Racisms, Disciplinary Insularity, and the Limits of Too-Big-to-Fail Thinking Mark Rifkin	130
The Canon and the Survey: An Anthologist’s Perspective Robert S. Levine	135
Uncanon David Kazanjian	140
Plus ça change : A Response to Maurice Lee Kenneth W. Warren	146
The Canonical Apple Cart: Reloaded Cecilia Konchar Farr	150
The Canon: Revised, Repurposed, Unfrozen Stephanie P. Browner	155
Interpreting the Survey Theo Davis	160
Mere Formalities; or, How Canonicity Speaks Its Love Nan Z. Da	165
Canonesis Joseph Dimuro	170
Afterword: Five Thoughts Maurice S. Lee	174

FORUM	CIVIL WAR SUFFERINGS
	Feeling the Pain: Coming to Terms with Suffering in America's Civil War	181
	Frances M. Clarke
	Children and the Meanings of Suffering in the Civil War Era	189
	Catherine A. Jones
	#BlackLivesMatter: Toward an Algorithm of Black Suffering during the Civil War and Reconstruction	198
	Jim Downs
	Jubal A. Early: Model Civil War Sufferer	206
	Kathryn Shively Meier
	The Sacrosanct Statistics of the Civil War	214
	Nicholas Marshall
	CONTRIBUTOR BIOGRAPHIES	223